Our Assessed Values Are Below State Average

Assessed value of homes in Contra Costa County average 22.6 per cent of their actual market value, according to the California State Board of Education.

This figure is below the state-wide average of 23.4 per cent, despite a not-yet-complete county-wide re-assessment program now underway.

Homes in the central county area, except Alamo and Danville, have been re-assessed, and except where tax rates have been lowered, there has often been an increase in actual taxes as a result.

The assessed valuation of homes and property is the figure to which actual tax rates apply.

Taxes increase when rates are increased and may increase when assessed valuations of property are increased.

There are 16 counties in the state, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, Santa Clara, Sonoma Counties, which have average assessed valuations higher than the state average.

The Board of Equalization recently issued orders to three counties — Amador, Calaveras and Lake—to bring their assessments up to the state average.

John Lynch, board chairman, said such orders will not "necessitate" any increase in taxes in the three counties.

He added that in those three counties, the order will ". . . prevent the imposition of a higher county-wide school tax."

However, the fact that Contra Costa County's average of 22.6 is close to the state average has not prevented the imposition of a county-wide school tax of somewhat less than five cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The law under the Collier Bill provides that state equalization funds paid to "less wealthy" school districts in this county (20 out of 43) will be "adjusted" according to a ratio of the county's rate of assessed valuation to the average rate of all counties in California.

In other words, if the county's average rate is lower than the state-wide average rate, then the state equalization funds are correspondingly lowered.

And the county-wide school tax makes up the difference.

The current reassessment program in the county is reducing the gap between the county average assessment ratio and the state average, reducing the amount of the prospective county-wide tax, also.

Last year, the taxpayers of the individual school districts absorbed the deficiency when the assessed valuations were not up to state average.

This year the county-wide tax will do it.

Lynch also said that the law also provides for a downward adjustment of tax rates to compensate for larger assessments.

The assessment ratios in the three counties ordered to be increased were Amador, 17.2 per cent; Calaveras, 18.8; and Lake, 18.7.

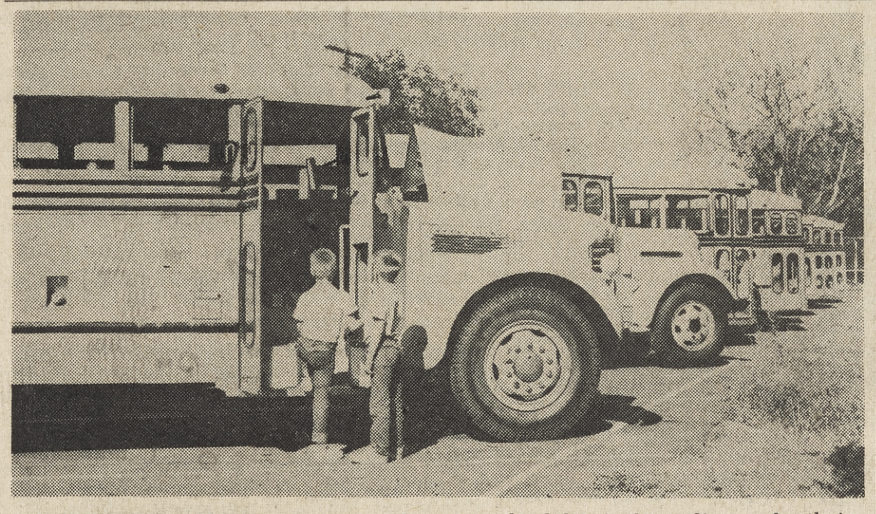
"Under the Coolidge bill of 1959, local authorities in these counties will not be permitted to increase their budgets or tax yields because of the rise in assessment values resulting from the State Board's order," said Lynch.

Under the Winton bill, enacted at the last session of the legislature, whenever school districts in a county have less than state aid coming to them because of low assessment rates, it is mandatory for the supervisors to levy a county-wide school tax.

Contra Costa is one of 27 counties with ratios slightly under the state-wide average, where taxpayers will have to pay the "unexpected" county-wide school tax this year, said Lynch.

Here are the counties which now have assessments above the state average, and which need not worry about imposition of a county-wide school tax:

Alameda, Del Norte, Los Angeles, Modoc, Monterey, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, San Diego, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Sierra, Sonoma, Ventura, Yuba.



JUST TESTING IT, these boys would say, as school district buses line up for their opening week's workout. You'll see these buses in all the neighborhoods, from now on. Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Could Save $50,000 — Insurors

School Unification Pressure Is off

An expected desperate rush to come up with some plan for unifying elementary and high school districts in the central county may be avoided, after all.

On Governor Edmund Brown's desk is an amended legislative bill which moves the deadline for "reorganizing" school districts back from 1963 to 1967.

Feverish and inconclusive meetings have been held by representatives of the Acalanes Union High School District and elementary districts in Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Orinda, Moraga and Canyon.

DESPITE the looming 1963 deadline, little progress was made toward agreement.

High school district trustees plumped for "horizontal" unification, which would put all elementary districts in a big district with Acalanes. Support came from some elementary trustees.

Most elementary men, however, favored "vertical" unification, with each elementary district remaining intact and a high school or two in its area being added.

If the 1963 deadline were not met, the state authorities were empowered to proceed with reorganizing the school districts, with or without the approval of the local districts.

DURING the recent legislative session, Senate Bill 1162 was introduced, calling for the outright repeal of the 1959 bill.

It passed the Senate, but was amended by the Assembly education committee to provide for a postponement of the deadline from 1963 to September, 1967.

The amended version passed the Assembly, and also was passed by the Senate.

There was another bill, Assembly Bill 830, which would have provided $200,000 in financial aid for the state master planning for schools.

It passed the Assembly, but died in the Senate finance committee.

David Flagg Will Appear In Concerts

David Flagg of Orinda will begin two weeks appearing as a singer in Costa Rica.

The tenor soloist will devote his vacation from his regular work as a probation officer to sing for Latin American Mission.

After hearing Flagg sing, a professor at the Bible Seminary of the Latin American Mission and Juilliard School of Music graduate asked him to give concerts in the Latin American country.

THE LATIN American Mission works with various church groups providing many different services to the local population.

Flagg will sing at a hospital, orphanage, schools, the Bible Seminary and radio and television.

He will culminate his engagement with a concert in the National Theatre.

TONIGHT at 8 p.m. Flagg will present a free concert in the Berkeley Women's City Club.

A Latin American theme program will be given. Any donations can be made to the mission that evening.

Flagg is soloist at the Surburban Bible Church in Lafayette. He has also appeared with the University of California Symphony, Oakland Symphony Chorus, Unruh Philharmonic Chorus and the Oakland Civic Light Opera Association.

DAVID FLAGG is pictured here with his wife, Astrid, and their children, Lorin and Lynell. Flagg will leave shortly to present a series of vocal concerts for the Latin American Mission in Costa Rica. He also sings with the Suburban Bible Church in Lafayette.

County Special District Coverage Is Duplication

The County Association of Insurance Agents this week charged that its alternate bid submitted during bidding for the county award of the 1961-62 insurance contract would have saved the county " . . . on a projected three-year period a conservative $50,000 in premiums."

The board of supervisors has awarded the contract to the firm of Cross and Doyle, raising a sharp disagreement over whether the supervisors should have considered a later bid offered by the association, after "rating information" pertaining to special districts was available.

The bid was awarded to Cross and Doyle for the stated reason that a savings was involved in the portion of the firm's bid pertaining to special districts.

THE association also charged this week that the claimed savings in the Cross and Doyle bid was based on the "weakest portion" of that firm's bid.

The statement came as supervisors learned Tuesday that many special districts under county control, including fire districts, have gone ahead on their own and contracted for insurance coverage.

This is despite the fact that the county's contract with Cross and Doyle provides for this special district coverage.

On Tuesday, Zachary Montgomery, president of the County Fire Commissioners Association, pointed out to supervisors that an ovtrlapping situation had developed and asked that the fire districts be allowed to contract for their own insurane for at least one more year.

The supervisors agreed to this.

MONTGOMERY commented that there has been a lack of communications between the board and the fire districts, which resulted in the present problem.

The supervisors said, however, there may be instances this year where the Cross and Doyle coverage may supplement the regular coverage, and this may be retained.

The Association of Insurance Agents has been looking into possible legal remedies, including a taxpayers' suit or a request to superior court for a writ forcing the supervisors to consider the later bid.

Ken White, association president, commented, "We won't let matter drop . . ."

HE ALSO denied that his association initially failed to submit a bid on special districts because this would compete with individual association members who allegedly hold contracts already with individual fire districts.

He said not enough members hold enough such contracts for this to be a factor.

He added that although the association did not offer coverage under all options offered by the supervisors, this is also true of the Cross and Doyle bid.

The association statement this week outlines the events as its members see them, as follows:

". . . On April 11, the county administrator wrote to the association enlosing a draft of the proposed specifications for soliciting quotations for general public liability insurance.

THE BOARD approved on May 16 the final specifications.

"Subsequently the Association asked for the necessary rating information on the fire distrits, but the county administrator's office was unable to provide it.

"Submissions were made and publicly read on June 20 at the regular meeting of the board.

"Members of the association were asked to attend a meeting of the insurance committee of the board of supervisors on July 3, in response to an offer by the association to assist the latter in evaluating the bids submitted.

"At that time the association again offered to submit an accurate bid figure when the necessary rating information became available.

"SINCE NO particular interest was shown on this subject, our letter of July 5, summarized the coverage in which the committee had shown interest.

"On August 1, the chairman, Tom Coll, read the report of the committee dated July 25.

"The board of supervisors' report specifically contends that the firm of Cross and Doyle met the specifications and saved the county $2478 by reason of the fact that the net savings to the districts was $6662.

"In truth, Cross and Doyle failed on several important and specific requirements to meet the specifications, said the statement.

"Two of these areas of failing concern the special districts.

"THE REPORT used the weakest portion of the Cross and Doyle quotation as the grounds for awarding them the business.

"Furthermore, the supervisors' report contends that Cross and Doyle has saved the county $13,539 over the past two years when atually the only known information on this subject is the county's own records which show that the premium during the Cross and Doyle tenure, increased by $9577 over the previous year.

"It is interesting to note that under an alternate plan submitted by the association the county would have saved on a projected three year period, a conservative $50,000 in premium," said the statement.

Amazing Bunch---Those Commuting Champions!

They're an amazing bunch, these Contra Costa commuters from our area.

They don't give up.

Our "Commuter's Olympics" contest proved that.

Entries have been compared, and the winners are known.

WHO IS THE commuter who has seniority over the others who submitted their entries?

He is Jack Rivera of 1950 Reliez Valley Road, Lafayette.

Jack has been commuting to San Francisco from this area since 1924, close to 40 years.

In the old days he caught the Sacramento Northern in Pleasant Hill. Or if he missed that one, he hopped aboard in Walden or Walnut Creek.

THEN HE became a Greyhound bus rider, and this year he is making the round trip by auto.

Who is the commuter who is traveling the greatest distance to his work?

He is Al Coggins of 1562 Springboard Road, Walnut Creek, who commutes to Cotati, located across the bay and north of San Francisco, adding 122 miles to his log each day.

Al has been subjecting himself to this grind for two months, and relief is not in sight for a couple of years. He leaves home at 5:30 a.m.

WHO BOASTS the most unusual method of commuting among our entries?

He is Richard Rickson of 39 Novo Court, Walnut Creek, who rides a unicycle each morning to his bus stop at North Main and San Luis Road.

He leaves the unicycle at the corner service station, and picks it up on his return.

The Sun hunted for a good entry for the shortest commute from here to the other side of the tunnel, but it turned out that all commutes are not short enough. So, no winner!

THERE ARE prizes, and the winners will be notified of the hows and whens.

Rivera and Rickson will both receive free helicopter rides, and Coggins will receive a king-size bottle of vitamins.

And The Sun offers best wishes to everyone who entered the "Olympics. And congratulations to those who have proven they are the champs!

Youngster Makes Hole In One!!

A 14-year-old visitor from Arizona recently distinguished himself at Carroll Country Club in a manner which is the envy of many golfers considerably older and more experienced than most 14-year-olds.

John F. Lance, Jr. of Tucson, visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haisley of 3677 Mosswood Drive, Orinda, expressed his desire to play glof, as he had done on past visits.

The Haisley's made arrangements for him to play at Carroll Country Club. Much to the Haisley's pride and astonishment, young Lance made a hole-in-one on the number two hole, using a nine iron.

Lance was playing alone at the time, but fortunately there were witnesses to the event. Mrs. Haisley said that he would receive a trophy and have his name posted in the clubhouse.

Later, the evening of the same day Lance made the hole-in-one, he won a pitching contest on the first hole. This win brought him a prize of two free dinner tickets at La Val's Villa.

When not attending school or making remarkable shots on the golf course, Lance works as a carrier for the Arizona Morning Star.

Development Association Gets $47,317

The County Board of Supervisors has signed a $47,317 contract with the County Development Association, covering the fiscal year 1961-62.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien said the association has already received advances amounting to $10,000. The balance of $37,317 will be paid in equal monthly installments during the remainder of the fiscal year.

The contract last year allowed $64,000 for the association's activities.

The contract can be canceled on 30 days' notice by either side, said McBrien.

Supervisor Tom Coll has suggested that the county create its own promotion agency, which might be called the Contra Costa industrial and commercial development commission.

He said that the initial annual cost would be about $25,000.

The board plans to appoint a committee of citizens and county officials to study the proposal.

Increased Safety Seen for School Bus Stops Soon

Parents and residents have expressed concern to The Sun regarding several bus stops in the Orinda Union School District.

Generally speaking, the parents believe the new stops are better than most of the ones they replaced, particularly in the hill areas. However, concern was expressed regarding the speed of traffic, particularly along Camino Sobrante.

James Jentges, assistant superintendent for business, said that all stops about which there have been complaints or any question of children's safety are being investigated.

Some may be reestablished, according to Jentges, some county road work and street markings wili be done at other stops in an effort to insure safety.

He added that the county, California Highway Patrol and the Acalanes District transportation office are all cooperating in an effort to rectify any existing dangers at the questionable stops.

Bear Creek Road Route Decision Due February 1

A decision on the final route for the relocation of Bear Creek Road will be made by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors February 1.

Public Works Director Victor Sauer said he will be able to give both the board and East Bay Municipal Utility District cost estimates after bids are open early in 1962. The supervisors voted unanimously to withhold their final decision until then.

THERE ARE three stretches of road involved in the decision for the highway which will be inundated by EBMUD's new Briones reservoir.

1—The $1,282,000 so-called B-1 route, which extends southwest from Garcia Ranch Road to Happy Valley Road, a distance of three miles.

2—The 3.4-mile, $2,816,000 BH or Black Hills route, which would skirt the south end of the lake.

3—The $4,441,000 C route, which would follow the reservoir 4.3 miles around its western edge.

The board of supervisors has two choices. It can either accept a combination of B-1 and BH, totaling $4,098,000 and 6.4 miles, or B-1 and C, 7.3 miles of highway which would cost a total of $5,723,000.

MOST LOCAL residents want the more expensive C route.

Under an agreement with the district, the county will go ahead with plans for B-1, call for bids and award a contract, probably in January. All costs will be paid by EBMUD.

Then, if the supervisors decide to adopt the BH route, the district will reimburse the county in full for highway construction.

According to the contract, if the county selects the C route, the district will pay only what it would have cost to build BH.

The county would have to pony up $1.6 million difference.

Rabbi Gumbiner Appeals; Court Sets High Bails

Rabbi Joseph Gumbiner of Orinda returned this week from Jackson, Mississippi, where he was one of 180 tried at Jackson Court for their activities with the Congress on Racial Equality.

Specifically, Rabbi Gumbiner was one of eight religious leaders arrested when they attempted to enter an airport restaurant for coffee, after attending a conference on race relations at Tougalou Southern Christian College. Two of the group were negroes.

Rabbi Gumbiner's hearing August 14 at Jackson resulted in a conviction and an appeal to the higher courts. The rabbi, who was sentenced to serve four months, is free on bail pending a hearing before a higher court.

THE JACKSON court, according to the rabbi, has increased bail for those convicted from $500 to amounts ranging from $1500 to $2000, making it extremely difficult for them or C.O.R.E. to raise bail.

"James Farmere, executive director of C.O.R.E., has suggested that those receiving short sentences of $200 fine and 60 days in jail, serve their sentences if they can afford the time.

"IN THIS way they can avoid the high bail and release what money can be raised to help those receiving long sentences which they cannot conveniently serve," the rabbi commented.

"There is no point in proving several hundred cases. Ultimately we hope to get a few cases to the Federal or Supreme Court. Once we have proven our point, it would be senseless to continue with costly trial proceedings in every instance," he continued.

Rabbi Gumbiner said that the present emphasis of C.O.R.E. is on voter registration, upgrading of negroes and housing. The trend away from the Freedom Rides has come because few leaders can afford the time and money to serve sentences for which they cannot afford bail, he added.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

I'm Home, Mom!

BACK TO SCHOOL went the children this week & the sudden change to serenity was enough to send some of us into traumatic shock—or back to bed.

There were those who pulled on their gloves, put on their hats & took off for a spree in the city across the bay . . . One friend of ours, fraught w/nervesa at the phenomenal change in her house, spent the time sitting in the sun & sipping iced coolers.

Up to the kitchen for a refill & she sniffed something burning, that peculiar smell of cloth on fire. . . . Around the house she went through every room, each wastebasket, each ash tray, the iron. Suddenly she felt her head. No, no hair singed, then eeek & help, it was SHE who was on fire. How she doesn't know, but somehow a cinder started smoldering into her new bathing suit & now it has the lowest back of any bathing suit you've ever seen.

YES, for some of us it was just too much! Many reported not a single ring on their phones which means we all had a good deal of respect for the other's rare peace & privacy. . . . Few had company & dropper-inners, & there were a few gals who got the blues —or felt lonely, although this is something I can never understand. It never happened to me.

YOU COULD HEAR A PIN drop, that is, if you wanted to spend your time listening for such things. We took our coffee & typewriter out on the terrace under the oaks & almost felt guilty, at least VERY self-conscious, playing the clic-clac of the keys, the only sounds to be heard except for the chattering squirrels storing acorns.

Our new puppy, whose morning snack consists of begonias, lay forlornly with his noz on his paws. THE DAY only started for him when late afternoon the school buses once again did their bumps & grinds around the bend.

THE BABY had her first long-running nap in months w/no noises or distraction to awaken her & I had mine. Lulled to sleep in the hammock by the heat, the humid & hypnotic spell of vacation's end.

Summer really starts in September when our Indian Summer weather is the best anywhere so it always seems so silly that the kiddies start back to school insistent on wearing their new wool shirts, skirts, hot cords, etc. . . . I bet they were sorry . . . especially the ones I saw out in a 2 PM top temperature doing calisthentics & push-ups in their clothes. OH, I'm glad I'm not young anymore, as M. Chevalier would sing.

A YEAR AGO, Labor Day, the Wes Smiths were speeding southward for the birth of their second grandchild to dghtr. Pat in Anaheim. . . . The Smith's first grandchild was coincidentally, born on Father's Day!

LABOR DAY, so rightly named, especially for mommas who were busy ironing blouses, pressing pants, getting the children's things in order . . . In contrast to the quiet of the first day back to school, Labor Day was a noisy one. . . .

Let's Talk Turkey . . .

The sounds of a gas saw as one neighbor stored away the firewood . . . The tap, tap of a hammer as new shingles were tucked into place on a roof . . . The lawn mower's hum giving a haircut to the front lawn . . . & the sibilant song of the sprinkler system saturating a nearby garden.

Labor Day with its industrious sounds . . . The woodpecker hammering high on a telegraph pole . . . A bunch of teen boys w/only their legs in view, tinkering from the underside of an old Model A . . . The fragrant aroma of turkeys, in the oven & on the barbecue, as thrifty housewives succumbed to the sale-priced birds for a pre-Thanksgiving treat. Remember when turkey was mainly a holiday mainstay . . . Now it's a year-round allime food buy & as Jack LaLanne says it—"We eat turkey every day. It's low in fat & loaded w/protein!"

Then there's industrious Coby Van Mastrigt, the Holland housewife, whose neighbors, if they keep their windows open, would be treated to the tantalizing fragrance of freshly-baked bread—which Coby does—SIXTY loaves at a time.

One day a month, she just bakes & bakes & bakes . . . & if bread gets any worse, or any higher, I'm going to do the same thing. The only breads edibly enjoyable are the expensive ryes, pumpernickels, French breads & some that bear a faint mark of homebaked distinction, but they are few, they are few!

THEN there's John Holmgren who labored for the love of it on Labor Day . . . A vintage car aficionado, the Motorland Mag man (he's associate editor & did the current horseless carriage article featuring Lance Barden & son Steve) well, anyhow, John volunteered for the tow-truck duty on the car club's tour to Tamalpais a caravan of the bay area's old-time cars . . . Was HE ever busy. Those big Rolls Royces breaking down were something to deal with!

I GOT TO THINKING if all our young men grow up to be scientists, doctors & lawyers, will there be any more REASON for Labor Day?

NOW THAT ORINDA School looks neat, new & blue, how about scraping the bucket for some paint for the flag pole?

Sending Up Signals . . .

Around Town: Al Medina in front of the Orinda Hardware semaphoring his arms in signals to his kids across the street . . . Nina Almond, in from her job at Kaiser Hosp., stopping at The Sprouse-Reitz to swap a few British broad A's w/Maudie Nie.

LYNN LOSHBAUGH, her arms full of bagged rabbit food & a desperate look . . . if anyone would like a lovely charcoal grey bunny pet? Marian Long driving along w/three snooty Siamese kits in the back of her car.

CLEVER, that kid in front of the Orinda Theater who was being beseiged in a corner by yellowjackets which prompted him to holler out to his buddies—"See, There's No Bees Like Show Bees!"

Incidentally, that double-feature show of "Journey To The Bottom Of The Sea" & "The Silent Call" (a dog story) was a wonderful show for the kids & adults as well . . . & for once, there wasn't even one shot objectionable, too rare a thing this day & age.

After a visit from Laurie Hupp & her houseguest Carol Thurston, we watched them ride on Laurie's horse, a pretty silhouette against the pink sky, heading toward the Hoyers . . . That was Friday night . . . On Sunday, Laurie's horse, Don, was stolen from his pasture. We hope he's back home by now!

BACK TO Jolly Olde Englande a minute while we catch a glimpse of Susan Cox hobnobbing w/the Nobs & poising her pinkie over her teacup as she sings along in the celebrated tea gardens.

FROM ENGLAND has arrived Buddy Beauxboy to stay w/the Shelby Turnbulls of Lloyd Lane . . . Sounds like a Beau Brummel, an International Playboy or a Teddy Boy doesn't he, but he's a 4½ mos. old toy French poddle for Juanita, a B'day gift to her from her sister Geraldine Baxter of Wichita Falls, Texas. The Turnbulls who summered at their Aptos place, went to the Int'l Airport last week for a royal reception to the arriving Buddy. Buddy Beauxboy, please!

GOOD NEWS: The Del Browns won't leave their hilltop house for anyplace else after all . . . & their daughter Diane Kissick is teaching at Inland Valley School. How happy her eighth graders—some who had her for 'Teach' in younger years.

ALL ORINDA SWIMMERS are invited to participate in the All Orinda Swim Meet to be held tomorrow & Sunday, 10 a.m., at the Miramonte Pool & sponsored by the Orinda Jaycees. No need to sign up ahead of time but if further info is desired, call CHIP PARKS, CL 4-8182.

Tomorrow night put on your pith helmet, gather up your guns

Family of the Week

THERE'S MUSIC IN the air at the John Holmgren house on Moraga Highway for John, author and associate editor of AAA's attractive Motorland magazine, is a part-time musician, leader of the "Tom Cats" (the SF Press Club's dixieland group) and also plays his tenor sax with bands around the bay area. Busy Summer Ends; School Routine Begins

By KITTY MIKA AND ANN LINCOLN

Freshman Day and the first day of school have arrived, and t same old school routine has begun again. The anxious and confu faces of little freshmen are seen as they roam the halls of Mira monte where the Class of '62 now reigns.

Freshman Day, held last Friday, was just as it always Scared, wide-eyed freshmen wandered around the school, listened the officers give welcoming speeches, and watched the pom pon gir and cheerleaders go through their routines.

The last week of summer was a busy one, for Orindo teens we taking advantage of their last bit of freedom.

Last Wednesday night Rick Borden had a party. Dean Monr entertained Rick's guests with folk songs; afterwards the coupl played poker and gin. Some of those there were Rick and Mi McGaw, Barry Tiemann and Bonnie Palmer, Doug Hamilton a Kathy Adams, Mike Fallentine and Carol Thompson.

Many boys, freshmen through senior, spent their last week vacation sweating it out on the football field. Since practice b early in the morning their nightlife was nil for the week.

Friday night the senior girls invaded the Rheem Theater to s Hitchcock's latest, "The Naked Edge." Their screaming and laug ing was heard all over the theater.

On the same night an open house was held at Claudia Powell Some of those there were Claudia and Jim McDonald, Mary Kam Marilyn McManus and Annette Phillips. We hear that Junior (t Powell's horse) didn't take too well to one of the boys. Coming this month—another open house at the Powell's when Bill is hon

Linda Jones was a happy girl last weekend. Bill Powell, alo with Randy Corsi and Tom Ferguson came home from Fort Ord a weekend pass. None of the boys have the beautiful, long curls th they had before.

Sunday afternoon there was a party at the Coles. Tina and Ra Layne, Nancy Englehard and Randy Thaman, Pam Dermit and Pe Yedidia, Dick Stark and Karen Weatherbe, and Tom Fergu n a Cinda Snell were some of the graduates that swam and brabe hamburgers.

John Rielly and Scott Huntley just returned from a weekend Tahoe. It seems it wasn't much of a summer vacation, since snowed there that week.

Saturday there was a Sylvester Function, and, as usual, Orin teens were there enjoying it to the fullest. Some of the couples the were Wendy Wilcox and Dick Miller, Sue Nattress and Rollin Mac Pam Pearson and Brad Olson, and Candy Hackler and her Conco boy friend. Candy, by the way, has cut her hair.

Holly Borden has just returned from her trip to Europe. She h a fabulous time traveling in England, Spain, Italy, Germany a practically every other European country. According to Holly t most exciting part was when she and two friends went into Ea Berlin.

Sharon Nielsen always seems to be bringing someone up to t sloughs with her to go water skiing. This time it was Nancy Srega Pat Kelly and Linda Sears who enjoyed a riotous day of skiing, extras such as bailing out the boat and playing pinchie winch the car on the way home.

The biggest attraction last weekend was Ray Charles w played Sunday night at the Oakland Auditorium. He sang all l great songs, and the crowd went wild! Of course, Orinda teens su as Skip Spaich, Jeff Schwark, Mike Chance, Roger Howard, Ri Babcock, Fred Haughton, Mark Lawrance, Boy Lyman, Hap Park Linda Jones and Bill Powell, and Jane White and Dave Parish we there.

City-County Road Work in 'High Gear'

Accelerated construction to implement the City - County Thoroughfare System plans has moved into high gear, according to the annual report submitted by Victor Sauer, county public works director.

Sauer said this is one of four areas of policy administration which has merited special emphasis in the annual report.

He said the system, which provided for a "second-level" system of city streets and county roads, got the approval of the board of supervisors.

Other areas of special emphasis included development of set-back lines on county roads, and formulation of a policy concerning sick-leave.

Also road construction was done under contract ". . . so far as feasible" during the year.

Sauer noted that the 1960-61 Public Works Department budget was $5,806,639.

Biggest items went for road and bridge maintenance—$1,385,440, and for road and bridge construction—$1,157,849.

Biggest individual jobs were Taylor Boulevard, which received $820,000 in county, federal and state money last year, and Cummings Skyway which received $615,000.

Gary, Age 8, Earns 2 Bikes!

Gary Spitzack, age 8, sold 10 subscriptions to The Sun then he sold 10 more so his sister, Vickie, age 10, could also have a new bike.

Both children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spitzack, 261 Shady Glen Road, Walnut Creek, are now bike owners, and dad chipped in a little extra so they are racer bikes!

Said Gary's dad, "I am amazed at what he has learned and what the selling experience has done for him.

"AND VICKIE by assisting him has gained new ronfidence.

"You see, Vickie kept the dogs off, while Gary made the sale!"

The father added, "Gary even refused to allow four potential subscribers to buy The Sun when they said they couldn't find the time to read a local paper."

He added, "And there was the case of the man who didn't want to subscribe, but offered to read a copy overnight.

"HE CALLED back the next day, wanted to subscribe after reading The Sun clear through, and wanted to borrow our back issues, on top of that!"

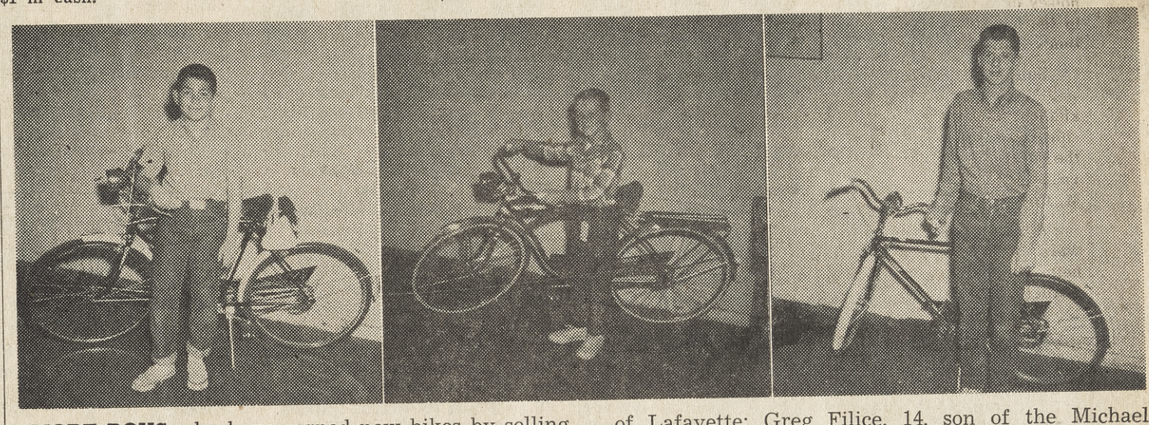
All this being a reminder that your boy or girl, or both still has time to sell 10 subscriptions to The Sun newspaper, and earn a bike priced at $36.87.

You have your choice of the Walnut Creek Sun, Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun or Pleasant Hill Sun, each tailored for its respective community.

You can learn the ropes and see what your new bike will really look like by dropping by The Sun offices at 1320 Locust street, Walnut Creek, or 1001 Oak Hill Road, Lafayette.

You can also earn a fine Swiss calendar watch by selling only three subscriptions, and for fewer subscriptions, or above three up 10 subscriptions, you will receive $1 in cash.

EARNING two bikes by selling subscriptions to The Sun was a good experience for Gary Spitzack, age 8, according to his dad. With Gary is his sister, Vicki, 10, who assisted, and will collect one of the bikes.



MORE BOYS who have earned new bikes by selling one-year subscriptions to The Sun—they are, left to right, Martie Weiner, 12, son of the W. Weiners of Orinda; Kevin Hansen, 7, son of the S. C. Hansens of Lafayette; Greg Filice, 14, son of the Michael Filices of Orinda. How did they do it? How can your boy do it? See the story.

Shelters Built Right?

A new committee to study regulation of fallout shelters has been created by the County Board of Supervisors.

Harry Morrison Jr. told the board Tuesday that the county has no adequate regulations for such construction, and shelters might be unsanitary and leaky in wet weather.

County Building Inspector R. J. Kraintz agreed that a study is necessary, but added that his office would not allow a permit for a structurally unsound shelter.

The committee would have representatives from the administrator's office, the assessor, flood control district building inspector, public health, district attorney, public works, sheriff, disaster office and supervisors.

Morrison said he was speaking as a private citizen, not in his capacity as executive secretary of the County Taxpayers Association.

Employees Mad At Civil Service Commission

The County Board of Supervisors will hold a special meeting Thursday to consider complaints by unions representing county employees, who are unhappy with the County Civil Service commission.

The County Employees Association has claimed there has been a breakdown of communication between the two groups, and a resulting lowering of morale.

Specific complaint is that the commission did not approve of a recommendation that employees who temporarily relieve their superiors in a higher job classification receive premium pay.

E. K. Irwin, association manager, said the many county employees are angry at the past actions of the commission.

A personnel department spokesman commented that the commission was created to look after the interests of the taxpayers, not to champion the causes of the employees.

Rabid Skunks Still Roaming

"Two more rabid skunks threatened central Contra Costans this week," Dr. John Baier, assistant health officer, said.

A group of children killed one skunk in a field near Dana Estates in Concord. Fortunately, no children were bitten.

The other was killed near Cresta Way in Walnut Creek. A dog came in close contact with this one and in accordance with state law, has been quarantined for 30 days.

According to Dr. Baier "these incidents illustrate the way rabies is brought to humans—either by direct contact with a wild animal or by the indirect route of a wild animal contacting a domestic animal, who in turn brings the disease to man.

The domestic animal usually involved is man's best friend—the dog. It is virtually impossible to prevent dog-wild animal contact.

Therefore it is necessary to protect dogs by vaccination.

Personal contact can only be avoided when adults realize the personal danger involved and teach their children to stay away from wild animals."

Contra Costa County has been declared a rabies area by the State Health Department and will remain so designated as long as rabid animals continue to be discovered.

Dog vaccination is compulsory as long as it remains a rabies area.

'New Ideas' Is Theme For Trustees

"New ideas for the new year" was the theme of the County School Boards' Association directors' meeting last Wednesday under the direction of President Don Falconer.

Plans were laid for a new concept in County School Board Association meetings.

With the help of Dr. Frank Bradford, administrative assistant in the county school department, Falconer has planned for five seminar type meetings, all geared to improving the service rendered by school board trustees.

SOME OF the topics to be discussed will be the legal responsibilities of a school board, the role of the school board in financing a school district and the relationship of school boards to administration.

Each meeting calls for a speaker and panel.

"We are fortunate to have Dr. Bradford in the role of coordinator and Dr. Ross of the American Education Field Service at University of California as our guiding consultant," Falconer said.

"The meetings will all take place at Diablo Valley College," Falconer continued, "with the first one scheduled for November 15.

"THIS NEW idea of the seminar will provide all our county school board trustees with a splendid opportunity to learn and improve. We feel certain that the interchange of information will be beneficial to all our county school districts."

Out-of-State Absent Dads Under Scrutiny

The county taxpayers' association has requested Assemblyman Jerome Waldie to sponsor a bill which would require district attorneys to seek support from absent fathers in aid-to-needy children cases, where the fathers live outside the state.

At present, each district attorney has the option to take such action as he desires.

However, civil suits may be filed in other states under the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement Support Act.

L. E. Carbert, in his letter to Waldie, praised District Attorney John Nejedly for his own program for securing money from absent fathers.

Flood Job May Start in '64

Target for beginning construction of the $24 million Walnut Creek Watershed flood control project is the summer of 1964.

The first indication that there is hope for the proposed $90,000 federal appropriation for advanced engineering and planning came this week.

A telegram from Congressman John Baldwin said that the U.S. House Appropriations Committee has voted out the Public Works Appropriations Bill, which includes the $90,000.

ANOTHER $20,000 is included for a flood control survey of Alhambra Creek.

The $90,000 is not the entire cost of the federal job's engineering and planning.

Another $200,000 will be requested from next year's federal budget and more than $100,000 more will be requested the following year.

This, added to already spent survey money, would bring the total for surveys, engineering and planning alone to nearly a half million dollars.

CARL RICH, chief engineer of the County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, said the federal public works bill must go from the House Appropriations Committee to the House itself, and a bill must also be reported out of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee and be submitted to the U.S. Senate.

Then follows a conference between representatives of both houses, and their agreement must be resubmitted to both legislative bodies before it goes to the President's desk.

Rich said that actual work can begin before all the advance planning and engineering in 1964 is complete.

He added that the actual appropriation of some $18 millions for the construction may be considered assured, once the legislators have invested in the preliminary work.

A LOCAL committee has been appointed to determine the best method by which some $1,500,000 can be raised locally.

The local contribution is about 7.4 per cent and must be paid in advance of each segment of construction.

The State of California is considering paying some $5 millions for rights of way, easements, lands, bridges and utility relocations.

Both Baldwin and Rich testified in favor of the $90,000 and $20,000 appropriations before the U.S. House committee two months ago.

County 'Tower' Would Be 12 Stories High

The county is seeking to construct a $3 million addition to the County Administration Building, icluding a 12-story tower at Main and Pine Streets, Martinez.

Approval of the Martinez city council is needed.

The application, filed by Board of Supervisors Chairman Joseph Silva, asks that the 100-foot height restriction be waived, allowing the 165-foot structure.

It would be the highest office building in the county.

Meet Barbara's Pals . . . And Meet Barbara, Too . . .

By NORMAN COLBY

Barbara Badham, 15, is so loyal and enthusiastic about her favorite child stage and film actress that some of her everyday acquaintances are worried about it.

The problem, as her friends see it, is that Barbara, a Del Valle High sophomore this fall, is in danger of forgetting that she, herself, is a fine person, with many outstanding attributes.

Barbara is a past president of a local Pat Boone Fan Club and she is president of the local fan club for Miss Christopher Norris, age 7, who is a star in the roadshow version of "The Sound of Music."

IN FACT, Barbara has written the mother of Evanna Lien, the Broadway child-star of "Sound of Music" (her dearest wish is to see the New York rendition), and hopes to create a combined fan club for both Christopher and Evanna.

And, Barbara is also international president of fan clubs for Susan Gordon, who starred with Danny Kaye in "Five Pennies."

Said Barbara in a letter to The Sun: ". . . I have spent several thrilling days with Susan at her home, including two whole days this summer.

"Susie and I are very close friends and I don't think of her as a star, but as a friend . . . she never thinks of me as her fan club president but as her friend, which is quite an honor for me . . ."

". . . SUSIE got a role in a "Twilight Zone" episode, and I practice her limp . . . she is very sweet, but very modest . . ."

"I feel very honored to have had so many thrilling things happen to me through my fan clubs, and am very thankful to these wonderful stars for making it all possible . . . they are just too wonderful to me . . ."

But some good advice was given recently to Barbara by George Straszer, assistant to the editor of the giant Los Angeles Times.

He said, "Barbara, you shouldn't submerge your personality in your drive to publicize and idolize the little girls who are the reason for your 'fan clubs.'

"I CANNOT believe that they are more deserving of attention just because they are seen by more people than you are . . .

"Anyone who can project herself so vividly as you do surely has much more to offer in the way of being an extremely interesting person than many others who are only carbon-copies of characters they portray on stage, screen or TV," said Straszer.

And the mother of child-actress Susan Gordon also agrees with the Times man.

She said, ". . . Barbara, you are too wonderful a person to lose yourself in promoting others—although I'm sure this will never happen . . ."

"MY HUSBAND and I both said that you were going to have a great future as an agent or a movie producer or something like that. We just think you are wonderful . . ."

But Barbara, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Beatrice L. Badham of 109 Terrace Road, Walnut Creek, has thoughts only for her youthful friends who have ascended into the magic world of drama and music, on stage and TV.

Her visit with her mother to the backstage of the "Sound of Music" in Los Angeles brought forth a vivid description of a vivid experience for Barbara.

She said, ". . . We got there a little early, so one of the stagehands told us to go backstage and wait. It was a fabulous sight and our heads were just buzzing . . .

". . . ALL THE props used in the play were to all sides — ropes, gadgets, lights, etc., and the people, stagehands, and to our surprise all of the little Trapp children . . .

". . . and probably the first thing we noticed was the huge staircase used in the living room scene of the Trapp villa. It was truly beautiful.

"We were trying to figure out how they got out of it (at the top) when Christopher and her mother arrived. Christopher had on a big red sunbonnet, "her blinders." We all chatted . . .

"Her mother answered some questions I'd written out to get material for a biography. The light was not good so we went over and sat on the steps of the staircase.

"All around us scenery was being lowered and checked; and stars were entering for the performance, and all sorts of exciting things were going on . . ."

PHOTOGRAPHS were taken of Barbara and Christopher, and the young star invited both Barbara and her mother to New York City for a visit.

In all, this meeting was the sort of excitement which 15-year-old Barbara thrives on.

And, just the sort of thing that almost every 15-year-old girl in the world would find thrilling!

Says Barbara, "Both of my clubs would welcome new members.

"WE OFFER several exclusive photos, biographies, journals and bulletins, and a long list of items to all members.

"Interested fans should contact me . . ."

Mike Sullivan Wins AAU State Diving Title

Orinda's Mike Sullivan took top class honors in the AAU State Age Group Diving Championships for the third straight year last Saturday in Los Angeles.

The Del Rey fifth grader won top honors in the 10 and under age group for the second year in a row. In 1959 he won the eight and under group.

Another local youngster, Claudia Lehto of Lafayette, finished high in the final standings.

She took a sixth in the 12 and under age group and missed a higher position because of a rule infraction.

Two weeks ago, Claudia took a third place in the Far Western AAU Swimming and Diving Championships in San Francisco.

Sullivan, who will be 11 in December, has also won the Northern California Junior Olympic Diving Championship in the 10 and under age group for three consecutive years.

Susan Dunshee Returns From Europe Stay

Miss Susan J. Dunshee, 1961 Miramonte High School graduate, has just returned from a four weeks visit as house guest of Col and Mrs. Roy A. Murray of West Berlin.

Col. Murray, Susan's godfather, is chief of staff of the Berlin Command and deputy staff commander in Berlin.

Sue saw the Communist wall built between West and East Berlin and before that had the opportunity of visting East Berlin and to compare the poverty, sadness and bleak living conditions of the East Berliners with the happy, prosperous life of those in free, or West Berlin.

DURING her stay, Sue also took an eight day trip with Mrs. Murray and a friend down the Rhine and then to Belgium, Holland, parts of France and the Swiss border. "Europe is breathtaking," Sue reported in letters to her friends and family.

Now back in California, Susan leaves this week for the southern part of the state where she will enroll as a freshman at UCLA.

She is the daughter of Mr. Mrs. W. B. Dunshee of 38 A Road, Orinda.

HELLO FOOD LOVERS: Here's a way to present pork chops to your family that will mark you forever as a heroine of the home range.

PORK CHOPS PIQUANTE

1 tspn. butter, 4 pork chops, ½ tspn. salt, ¼ tspn. pepper, 1 medium-size onion, chopped, 3 tbsn. wine vinegar, ½ cup sauce piquante.*

In heavy skillet, heat butter. Add chops and cook, turning once, for 20 min., or until chops are browned and thoroughly cooked through. Remove chops to heated serving dish and keep warm. Pour fat off skillet, leaving about 1 tspn. of fat. Add onions to skillet and cook, stirring constantly for 2 min., or until onions are golden. Add vinegar and continue cooking for 2 minutes more, or until liquid is reduced to about 1 tspn. Add sauce piquante. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, then simmer for 2 min. Pour sauce over chops. Serve hot. Serves four.

*SAUCE PIQUANTE. 1 tbsn. buttee, 2 tbsn. chopped onions, 1 tbsn. flour, ½ cup consomme, ½ cup dry white wine, 1 tbsn. wine vinegar, 1 tbsn. dry mustard, 1 medium size pickle, thinly sliced.

In small, heavy saucepan, heat butter. Add onions and cook until slightly browned. Sprinkle with flour. Stir in consomme, wine and vinegar. Bring to boil. Add mustard and cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Simmer for 10 min., stirring constantly. Correct seasoning. Add pickle and continue simmering for 5 minutes more.

See you next week. NANCY

A Big Step, But There Is Still Far To Go...

We were pleased to note last week that County Administrator J. P. McBrien presented a report to the County Board of Supervisors on the Grand Jury's recommendations regarding the Contra Costa County Planning Commission.

He also reported on a grand jury's audit and finance committeie report.

What interested us about this report to the board was not so much what McBrien had to say, as the fact that it was said at all.

WE CAN REMEMBER many a year when the grand jury report received no official notice whatsoever.

And we note with pleasure that McBrien will, as the year progresses, report on each of the grand jury committee reports.

However, we would like to note that the eventual responsibility still lies with the board of supervisors. Having the county administrator investigate the reports of the grand jury, and in turn make his recommendations to the board of supervisors is a big step in the right direction.

But unless the board does something with those recommendations, the whole affair amounts to little more than wheel spinning.

IN THESE DAYS of increasing costs and higher taxes, everything possible must be done to streamline both our county government and our special districts.

Many of the grand jury recommendations are pointed in this direction, but the grand jury has no power, except in criminal cases, to take direct action.

That must be done by our board of supervisors.

Incidentally, the grand jury sometimes comes up with recommendations which do not seem in the best interests of us, as homeowners, who are trying to protect our investment in our homes and property.

An example of this was the grand jury report on the planning commission in which it was suggested that night meetings of that group be abolished.

THE SUN POINTED out in an editorial recently that this would be extremely unfair to most residents, because many are commuters and others would find it difficult to leave their jobs to protest a hearing which could affect their homes and property.

McBrien agreed with this, and also with the fact that he is opposed to any "special interest" group being appointed to the planning commission.

This referred to the grand jury recommendation that real estate and construction men and women be appointed to the commission.

All in all, it was a pleasure to read McBrien's report, and we will be looking forward to the rest of them.

It's the first big step in this right direction we've seen in a long time.

IF YOU KEPT your eyes open this week, you undoubtedly saw hundreds of bright yellow school buses traveling over our local roads and highways. And all the children that were on those buses got off, at one place or another, and walked home. The moral? Be careful, because youngsters are not necessarily traffic wise.

Maybe Private Eyes, Yes?

Did you notice the item in The Sun last week noting that Pinkerton, a private detective agency, is interested in bidding on law enforcement work in unincorporated areas of the county?

This little item leads to some interesting speculation. The first that comes to mind is a mental image of some of our nicer subdivisions being patroled by Private Eyes in the classic dime novel sense of the word.

YOU KNOW what that is . . . convertibles, beautiful girls, lots of the finest Scotch, etc.

We also noted in the item that the Sheriff of Contra Costa County did not appear overly eager to cooperate with the Pinkerton boys . . . professional jealousy, perhaps.

But then a more serious aspect came to mind. The spectre of some of our local residents who are perhaps unhappy with the current police protection they are getting from the sheriff's office, but who find themselves on the horns of a dilemma.

THEY MUST either take things the way they are; pay more in taxes to increase the sheriff's staff, or form a special service district like the residents of Danville are currently doing.

The latter, as you can well imagine, costs plenty.

There is, of course, one other alternative . . . incorporation. This may or may not cost money, depending on how you feel about incorporation. It will be interesting to see what happens to Pleasant Hill in this respect.

But in the meantime, what about all the people of our fine unincorporated areas and their police protection?

Perhaps the Pinkerton Dream is the only thing to look forward to for a while.

The High Cost of Fires

Next time you throw a cigarette out of your car window, stop and think of what it might be costing you in taxes.

We're not talking about litterbugging, which is expensive too, but about grass fires.

Joseph Connery, deputy county administrator, has estimated that the series of brush and grass fires which burned over large areas of this county cost the taxpayers at least $100,000.

Stop and think of what that money could do for your school district in the way of needed classrooms, or a multi-purpose room.

UNFORTUNATELY, some of these fires were started deliberately . . . the large one on Mt. Diablo for example, but many of them were purely accidental . . . the result of carelessness.

With summer almost officially at an end, you may wonder why we are talking about this.

The answer is simple. We still have plenty of hot, dry weather left, and this is the worst fire year in the history of California.

Incidentally, that $100,000 cost figure was "extra" money for fighting the fires, not the cost of property and timber burned.

IF YOU INCLUDE the cost of burned homes and charred oak trees, the cost is much higher.

Even the Mt. Diablo Red Cross spent about $500 providing food and drink for the weary fire fighters.

Remember, this is your home . . . the whole county. You can help to keep it safe, and you pay the bills to fight fires, whether you or others start them.

Are you doing your part?

Letters to The Editor

SPANISH NAMES

Dear Editor:

Although not a Spanish student, I couldn't agree more with Spanish teacher Mrs. Ford. The wierd names used for streets and subdivisions in this county of old Spanish grants are enough to make the grantees turn over in their graves.

Take Campolindo, it not only is grammatically incorrect, it is anything but euphonious, unless of course, it is pronounced correctly as Cahmpo Leendo. Otherwise, it sounds like a camp.

As for the meaning, beautiful country. My Spanish dictionary defines "campo" as meaning country, any tract or flat or even country, camp. "Lindo" means pretty, nice, neat. So we have a Neat Camp or, Nice, Flat Country! Bello means beautiful, so to be correct for beautiful country it would have to be Campo Bello, am I right Mrs. Ford?

Now, so long as the high school is smack, dab in the middle of the lake bed for which the Moraga land grant was named, El Rancho Laguna de los Palos Colorados, what would be more fitting than to call the new high school "Laguna"? Launga is defined as lake, pond, lagoon.

Later, as the lake gradually filled up because of winter runoffs, and the lake bed held water only during the winter time, and became known as the "Tule Patch."

It seems as though the first youngsters to attend the high school should have the honor of naming their school—by vote or contest. I'll bet they'd rather yell as rooters, "Laguna, Laguna, rah! rah! rah!" than "Campolindo, Campolindo, rah! rah! rah!"

MRS. JOHN SHALLY

MINORITIES

Dear Editor:

We want to thank you and Norman Colby for the pictures and article in the July 28 Sun pointing out that good relationships are possible between Caucasians and non-Caucasians living in the same neighborhood, and that property values do not necessarily decline in integrated areas.

Your statement that "Not many minority families are trying to locate in our area now. They have heard it is a 'rough go'" is unfortunately true.

So far as we know, no "minority family does move into Orinda since the formation of our Orinda Council for Civic Unity, last April.

Our hope is that when a minority family does move into Orinda, our group will be able to help them and their neighbors live in peace with each other.

We now have a paid membership of over 70 families, and a mailing list of 450 sympathetic families.

This indicates to us that there are many Orindans who are prepared to pay more than lip service to the American principles of equality and fair play.

AIR POLLUTION

Dear Editor,

Mr. Prager is partly right, but is partly not sufficiently informed about the control of air pollution from the Contra Costa oil refineries and chemical plants.

The stenches of the past are being cleaned up — many of them are already cleaned up — under the air pollution control program of our district. Large sums — well over $15 million— going on $20 million — have already been spent by them for the installation of air pollution control equipment and improved operations.

Other millions of dollars are committed and are being spent as fast as construction can be completed. Some of the plant owners waited until the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations were adopted. Others moved ahead earlier.

Some of the larger installations take as long as two years to complete the correction of operations that were installed during the past 20 to 30 years. Our district staff is following the control work as closely as possible to assure compliance and enforcement.

Mr. Prager, and others, can be assured that it is our intent and goal to achieve the clean-up as quickly as possible.

Air Pollution Control Officer

Let's Discuss Some Mutual Newspaper Problems!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Today let's talk about some mutual problems—yours as a newspaper reader; mine as an editor.

On several occasions recently The Sun has been criticized for printing a certain kind of news. I won't relate these specific stories but will note that criticism is aimed at us for printing "unhappy news"—divorces, drunk driving or other arrests and convictions, juvenile problems (without the names), suicides, etc. Let's review the problem for a minute.

First, The Sun does not feature or up-play such news. Usually, you will find only 2 or 3 paragraphs devoted to such stories—on inside pages. If, however, it is of wider significance, it will be given stronger treatment.

Our Policy Re-stated

Second, The Sun's policy is—and will continue to be—to print all news of the community. We are not going to set ourselves up as censors to decide what you shall or shall not read. When newspapers start doing this, you had better start worrying.

Third, please don't blame your newspaper if your nice neighbor gets caught for drunken driving and is convicted.

It's ironic! People don't blame the guy at fault; they don't blame the policeman for arresting him; they don't blame the judge or jury who convicted him. They blame the newspaper for printing the story.

Certainly there are times when this newspaper might mis-handle such a story. But, remember, newspapers don't make the news; they merely report it.

Our Columns Are Open

Recently I had a lengthy discussion with an executive of a major oil company. Remember—The Sun criticized the big oil companies for building too many stations too close together in a given area. Neither one of us convinced the other. There are good arguments on both sides.

I did, however, make the point very clear to him and would like to repeat it: the columns of The Sun are open to him and to you. Write us a letter, along with your address. We prefer not to "withhold name," but will do so if you insist.

Red Cross Volunteers Helped Fire Fighters

The big fires of July have been extinguished and the local threat seems to be diminishing, according to leaders of American Red Cross chapters of Contra Costa County.

For the last 60 days volunteers and staff of these Red Cross chapters were taxed to their peak with "on the scene" assistance on a round-the-clock basis, said Karl Mahler, Greater Mt. Diablo chapter chairman.

The Greater Mt. Diablo chapter and Central chapter of Concord were asked to assist by the Fire Chiefs or County Civil Defense. Red Cross chapters were asked to set up medical first-aid stations and provide emergency feeding service, said Mahler.

The biggest local fires involved were at Bolinger Canyon, Franklin Canyon, Rudgear Road and the Mt. Diablo fire.

During these fires approximately 350 firemen and volunteers were fed and cared for, when care was necessary, by the Red Cross chapters, he added.

Feeding the firefighters required over 1500 sandwiches, 250 hot meals, 125 gallons of coffee, 75 gallons of iced tea, and 25 gallons of punch.

Some of these items were contributed by various civic-minded citizens and groups. The rest was paid for by Red Cross, Mahler said.

Ray Van Tassell, Red Cross disaster chairman, emphasized that Red Cross' agreement with Civil Defense includes the feeding of disaster workers in catastrophic disasters when normal feeding facilities are not available.

Van Tassell said, "Feeding and supplemental medical services are an important part of our community preparedness to avert mass catastrophe. Most of our community agencies find it difficult to take on this large task and know that Red Cross service is available."

Red Cross disaster operations in Greater Mt. Diablo chapter are under the direction of Raymond Van Tassell, disaster chairman; Col. Clarence W. Parham, vice chairman, and Mrs. Arthur Larson, canteen service chairman.

Disaster chairman of the Richmond chapter is Gen. Claude F. Burbach.

TRY opening that bolt, buddy! You know, there could be a live "round" in the rifle's chamber! Don't believe it, eh? Neither did some other guys who have since departed from this world!

Women in The Sun

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1961

ROBERT LOUIS LARSON and Joan Kesselring became man and wife August 19 in nuptials performed by Rev. Merle O. Tollefson. The bridegroom will continue his studies at the Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul. Photo by Hal Matson.

Joan Kesselring Becomes Bride

Joan Kesselring became the bride of Robert Louis Larson August 19 in 8 p.m. rites at Lafayette's Our Savior's Lutheran Church.

Rev. Merle O. Tollefson performed the ceremony. In the church patio, a reception was held to honor the newlyweds immediately after the rites.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Kesselring of Lafayette.

Robert is the son of the Robert L. Larsons of Billings, Montana.

The bride wore a floor length silk organza gown with lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil was attached to a cap of lace rose petals trimmed with pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Her attendants were dressed in gowns of aqua chiffon over taffeta; they carried white begonia bouquets.

Mrs. Sonja Taylor was matron of honor. Sharon Larson, groom's sister, was bridesmaid; the bride's cousin, Susan Cohick, was junior bridesmaid. Mari Larson was flower girl.

Dennis Larson, brother of the groom, stood as best man.

Robert Kesselring, bride's brother, and Daniel Witmer were ushers.

A turquoise silk sheath was worn by the mother of the bride. The groom's mother wore a blue chiffon dress.

Joan graduated from Pacific Lutheran College, Tacoma, Washington, in 1961.

Robert graduated from the same school in 1960. He also attended Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota, during the past year. He will continue to study there until 1964.

The couple took their wedding trip to Carmel and Lake Tahoe.

Troyers Travel To Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin B. Troyer, their daughter, Mrs. Anna C. Troyer and six grandchildren, Raoul and Paul Yrivarri, the Misses Kandy and Penney Franklin and brothers Ben and Steve, have all "Gone Hawaiian," captivating the passengers on board the SS Lurline, on their recent round trip voyage to the 50th state.

Mr. and Mrs. Troyer live at 952 Oak View Circle, Lafayette.

This talented family was a leading attraction in the ballroom of the Lurline. Kandy and Penney entertained with their version of a Hawaiian Can Can, and Raoul and Kandy were a sensation with their dancing exhibition.

Not to be outdone, Mrs. Mervin Troyer walked away with championship honors for the bridge tournament, and was also awarded an orchid for the grandmother with the most grandchildren on board ship.

A visit in Honolulu and Kauai were enjoyed before the return voyage. Walnut Creek Travel Service, Inc., who arranged the Troyers' trip, are pleased that after a short delay—due to the Maritime strike—this family were finally able to complete their vacation.

Calico Revival Approaches

The calico world of the "Sunday social" — with some added contemporary frills — will be reviewed September 13.

The occasion is the Annual Fall Roundup and Fashion Show sponsored by Heather Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

The affair will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the oak-tree shaded lawns and patio surrounding the pool area of the R. W. Breuner home at 575 Miner Road in Orinda.

Only the dust and tumbleweed will be missing from the authentic western-ranch scene. Basket lunches will feature home-fried chilken and old-fashioned biscuits. And guests will eat the hearty fare on tables spread with gay red cloths and sparked by bouquets of daisies

Fashions for western living will be from two specialty shops, Irene Theis of Walnut Creek and La Mimosa of Orinda.

Moreling "from gingham on" will be friends of Heather Branch: Mrs. Gordon E. French, Mrs. Calvin Hagstrom, Mrs. Harold J. Havre, Mrs. Philip Muscheid, Mrs. William G. Robinson and Mrs. Richard Stampley, all of Orinda; and Mrs. Robert H. Goodale of Lafayette.

Even when the West was "wild and wooly," September meant "back to school." So, the latest in "styles to study by" from Heaven to Eleven of Orinda, also will be shown.

Among the local junior show-stealers will be: Ted Macaulay and Kay Trimpe, all of Lafayette; and Ruthie Cummings, David and Denise Dondero and Dana Seifert, all of Orinda. The youngsters' mothers are all branch members.

Mrs. John Manners, Jr., of Orinda and Heather Branch will direct the fashion show, and Mrs. James MacDonald of Orinda will serve as commentator.

Mrs. Edward Macauley and Mrs. Bernard Trimpe, both of Lafayette; Mrs. Fred Cummings of Orinda, will assist with the basket luncheon.

Programs for the ranch-styled event are being designed by Mrs. Eugene Lee of Lafayette and Heather Branch.

Proceeds from Heather Branch's Round-up and Fashion Show will benefit the part-pay program at Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

This program provides a portion of hospital and medical costs for thousands of needy children whose families can't afford the full cost of private care in the medical center exclusively for children.

Extension of State Highway 21 freeway from Castle Hill Road south of Walnut Creek to one mile south of Danville, with acquisition of rights-of-way and start of construction, six miles.

Initation of design and plans, begin rights-of-way acquisition for interchanges at Bailey Road and Somersville Road, extension of Highway 24 freeway to its connection with Highway 4, between Willow Pass Road and A Street in Antioch.

Help Heart Association By Buying Xmas Cards

A Christmas donation to heart research can be made by ordering Christmas greeting cards from the Contra Costa County Heart Association.

The cards this year are available in a choice of two exclusive designs created by the Bay Area Heart Associations by the artists of the San Francisco Art Institute.

Donors may choose a drawing of the three kings printed in lavender and blue on a brown card, or a brilliant Christmas tree bird done in orange, fuchsia and red.

Each design carries a greeting and the message, "This card signifies a contribution has been made to heart research." Cards may be printed with the sender's name if the order is received before November 30.

To order the cards, the donor simply makes a contribution to the heart association of the amount he usually spends for Christmas cards. In return he receives the number of cards he needs for his mailing list.

A large advance printing ordered by the heart associations of this area has reduced production costs of the quality cards so that almost the entire amount of the contribution goes to heart research. Only the nominal cost of the cards is deducted.

Funds received by the Contra Costa County Heart Association support six local research projects as well as contributing to the state and national programs of the heart association.

The cards are on display at the Contra Costa County Heart Association office, 2030 North Main Street in Walnut Creek.

Sample cards will be mailed on request to those interested.

Receives Degree

A recent graduate of San Jose State College is Robert H. Thom of Walnut Creek.

He will receive a master of art degree in industrial arts.

Commencement ceremonies will take place on campus with President John T. Wahlquist conferring the degrees.

Republicans Are Urged to File

The Republican Central Committee of Contra Costa County today urged all qualified Republicans to file for public office as soon as filings open for the open primary elections for 1962.

In a policy statement issued today by Sam Conti, Central Committee chairman and Concord attorney, all Republicans were further urged to support the candidates of their choice during the forthcoming primaries.

"The County Central Committee wholeheartedly supports California's open primary system," Conti explained.

"Through this system, all registered Republicans can have a voice in selecting the best available men as our state and national representatives," he added.

Conti said that unlike some years in the past, the Republican Party has several candidates in the races for all state offices.

"The primary campaigns this coming year promise to be lively and hard-fought. It is the position of our Central Committee that this is not only good for our party, but good for the state of California," he declared.

Stenburg Enrolls In Engineering

Among new students who will enter Harvey Mudd College is Kenneth H. Stenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stenberg of 20 Acorn Court, Walnut Creek.

Stenberg came to the college of science and engineering from Las Lomas High School.

See Surburbia Today If You Like Dancing . . .

The story of how etiquette authority Amy Vanderbilt learned to dance (after years of "sitting it out"), with some invaluable tips on how to improve your own performance, will lead off the September issue of Suburbia Today, which arrives with the September 8 edition of your Sun.

For those not going back to school this September, two fresh young talents named Eric Nicol and Peter Whalley present their version of American History—mad, confusing and wildly funny.

Then there's a story by a den mother who feels the present cub scouting program is not what the boys want. She tells what she found wrong and then tells what she'd do to give the boys a more interesting and enriching round of activities.

For golfers, champion Louise Suggs reports on par-three courses—they're here to stay, she finds, and are perfectly tailored to fit the needs of beginners, older players, mixed games and for anyone with limited time.

Food editor Melanie DeProft suggests a party where the food is borrowed from the favorite dishes of foreign friends—and who would not enjoy Armenian meat balls, onion soup les Halles, zucchini in Salsa Verde, Middle Eastern chapatties, silsallat from Scandinavia and Haitian ice cream?

Chrysanthemums, says garden editor John Brimer, are just the things to fill up the bare patches which will soon start to show up in your garden—they transplant successfully in full bloom, they don't mind being moved around, and they'll keep color around your house till winter.

"Getting Around" moves into academic circles with the low-down on that all-important "first day at school"; the strange rock that was featured in a high school science fair; and the solution to the problem of what to do about carrying 20 pounds of books around campus all day.

Finally, our cartoonists break the bank with a few well-chosen sketches called, "It's Only Money."

Biophysicist Will Speak

Dr. Robley C. Williams, internationally distinguished research biophysicist at the University of California, Berkeley, will speak at the annual meeting of the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society.

It will be held at 7:30 p.m., September 20, at the Willows restaurant in Orinda.

Physicians, scientists, lay leaders and other cancer society volunteers, also interested members of the general public are invited to hear Dr. Williams speak on the crucial question "Can Viruses be a Causative Agent of Human Cancer?"

DR. WILLIAMS wears three hats at the University of California. He is professor of virology in the department of virology; research biophysicist to the virus laboratory and associate director of the virus laboratory.

A native of California, Dr. Williams has received the Longstreth Medal, the John Scott Award, and continuous research grants from the American Cancer Society.

He is a member of all honorary and professional societies in his fields, is special consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service, to the U. S. Army, and is chairman of the Committee on International Relations of the National Academy of Sciences.

Also new officers to guide the Contra Costa Branch of the cancer society during the new fiscal year will be installed and new board members elected.

RESERVATIONS to attend the dinner meeting may be made in advance by writing or telephoning the Contra Costa Branch headquarters at 2030 North Main Street in Walnut Creek.

There will be a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m., preceding the dinner.

Price of the dinner including tax and tip is $3 per person.

Store Owners Are Urged To Help in Town Clean-Up

Store owners in Lafayette are urged to grab a hoe and eradicate the weeds which may be detracting from their property and Lafayette.

Jack Hageman, chamber of commerce president, who is spearheading the clean-up Lafayette campaign, reported to The Sun that 50 per cent of the clean-up is complete.

"This is due mostly to the full cooperation of EBMUD and the county," he said.

HE URGED businessmen to refrain from sweeping litter from their stores into the street gutters. "This is like putting dirt under the rug," he mused.

Some of the business establishments which have repainted and/or renovated are: Bill Glogovac, Park Theatre, Lafayette Pharmacy, Diamond K, Charlie Greer, according to Hageman.

"Residents demand beauty and cleanliness," he stated. "We want this to be an all out campaign."

Next Wednesday at the stroke of midnight, a street sweeper will start to clean the Lafayette main avenues.

HAGEMAN told The Sun a meeting has been arranged between county engineers and a road contractor's firm to estimate the cost of installing curbs, gutters and sidewalks from Oak Hill Road to Lower Happy Valley Road.

After this estimate is compiled, a chamber of commerce representative will contact proprietors in this area.

If they will cooperate and contribute to this campaign, the project will be put out to bond, Hageman said.

1961 Foothill Race Will Be 'Wide Open'

Two New Schools Open Varsity Play Next Week

Del Valle

Del Valle High School is entering upon a new era in its athletic program this fall.

For the first time in their short history, the Trojans will enter into varsity competition.

The school, which has no senior class, will embark on its varsity career with its football squad.

This winter the Trojans will begin competition in other varsity sports.

ALTHOUGH the school is still relatively small for this immediate area, the students and coaches feel Del Valle can give some of its opponents real tough games.

For this year only, Del Valle is an "independent," allowing it to schedule games with similar varsity teams.

Last fall the Trojans had a highly successful year in junior varsity competition.

Their overall record was 7-1.

COACH Jerry Bellon reports that this year's offense, the same as the preceding two years, will start from a "Wing-T" formation.

The coaches concur that the biggest problem confronting them right now is finding the right man for the right job. Very few of the boys know where they will be playing on opening night.

Queried about potential regulars for the various positions, however, Bellon cited these candidates:

BOB KOVATS, Ray Cox and Vic Schellenburg are competing for quarterback, with Kovats probably getting the nod because of proven ability and experience.

For fullback, it looks like Mal Cameron, Jim Cristman, or Pete Jason.

Bill O'Toole, Cliff Schroeder, Jim Lesh and Paul Moore will vie for the halfback position.

In the line, Warren Sankey, Moore and Al Blazick are trying out for center.

The tackles will be represented by Mike Valcke, Burnell Pomenay, Bob Benker and Rich Bartlett.

The guard positions will be manned by Jim Bryant, Barry Goggin and Ken Roberts.

Max Christiansen, Perry Thornton and Randy Quadros will handle the end positions.

For their first game, the Trojans play Cloverdale High School at Cloverdale next Friday at 8 p.m.

Del Valle plays eight games this season, the four home games being played under the lights at either Las Lomas or Acalanes.

The boys who make up this year's team have worked together as a team for the past two seasons, through their freshman and sophomore years.

Perhaps, they will surprise a lot of people.

College Park

It's time for College Park High School to enter that unfortunate period that all new high schools have to endure.

It's called growing pains and everyone associated with the school usually has to suffer.

A week from today, the Falcons enter their first season of varsity football competition and head coach R. V. Johnson knows what the score is even before the season's first kickoff.

If starting off the season without a single player having any varsity experience weren't enough, the Falcons have to play all their games on the road.

The October 13 contest at Antioch is actually College Park's first home games. Two other games scheduled as home games, are at Pleasant Hill High School.

On October 27 the Falcons entertain Clayton Valley at Pleasant Hill and on November 10 they host Pleasant Hill on the Rams' home field.

The Ram-Falcon game, the last of the season for both teams, could become a "natural" in future years.

Coach Johnson has about 60 players out for the varsity at the present time. About half of these will be dropped to the junior varsity squad.

JOHNSON realizes he and his yearling squad are in for a tough year.

"If we win any games, it will have to be called an upset," he said, "but every team will know they've been in a ball game."

The entire first team for the Falcons will probably be seniors back from last year's JV squad that was 5-1 in league play.

College Park lost only to Pleasant Hill in junior varsity play and were 6-3 overall.

The Falcons dropped contests to the varsity teams of Amador High and Albany High while defeating Christian Brothers of Sacramento, a two-year school, in non-league play.

College Park's leading runner from last year's team is ineligible this season. Halfback Ron McHugh is sitting out the season because of poor marks.

Johnson will be banking on the quarterbacking of Loran Speck to give the Falcons some offensive punch. Spech was the Falcons' standout last season.

TACKLE Ron Boeger looks like the best lineman at the present time. At 195 pounds, he is the biggest player on the team.

The Falcons open their season against Santa Rosa next Friday.

Santa Rosa is the defending North Bay League champions.

It'll be a case of tough game after tough game for the Falcons this year.

But like our Giants, there is always next year.

DEL VALLE—Preparing for their first taste of varsity competition are these 16 holdovers from last year's junior varsity team that posted a 7-1 record. From left to right: Burnell Povponey, Bob Kovats, Paul Moore, Warren Sankey, Mal Cameron, Lowell Tunnison, Cliff Schroeder, Perry Thornton, Mike Valcke, Dick Smith, Bob Benker, Jim Bryant, Barry Goggin, Jim Pratt, Ray Cox and Bill O'Toole.

That's What the Coaches Think as Season Nears

By GEORGE COLBURN
Sports Editor

With the title chase in the Foothill League still a month away, the coaches this week seem to agree that it will be anybody's race.

Every team has lost key men via graduation and all coaches are in the process of rebuilding. Non-league games for all teams are on tap next Friday.

Last year's co-titlists, Acalanes and Piedmont, were tabbed as the teams to beat before the season began.

This year it's a different story.

Las Lomas coach Duane Louis thinks last year's second division teams, Miramonte, Alhambra and San Ramon, will be the teams to beat this year.

MIRAMONTE COACH Bob Brooks is not overly optimistic, but says his team has more experience this year than ever before.

Fred Houston of San Ramon isn't claiming any championship, but thinks his team will do much better than last year — "We'll score more than 21 points in league play this year" is the way he put it. With a little luck, Houston hopes to be in the title chase.

San Ramon lost all eight games last year, including five in the Foothill League. They managed only 21 points in the five league games, as they were shut out twice.

Houston says his team this year is still a year away from maturity. He plans to start at least seven juniors.

Acalanes coach Buzz Williams has the task of defending the title that his boss of last year, Bob Stevens, shared with Piedmont.

WILLIAMS has 12 lettermen back this year, but the top players are gone.

He thinks the Foothill race is wide open. He said all the teams are all starting pretty even this year.

Acalanes

Williams has 12 lettermen back this year — three ends, three tackles, three guards, a quarterback, halfback and a fullback.

His regulars will be mostly seniors.

He's counting on Dave deVarona to anchor the line. Dave played center last year, but has been converted to tackle.

Letterman Jim Rinne will get the nod at one of the end positions.

Dennis Money is the returning fullback and will probably hold that position despite a challenge by Mike Hallock, who has been one of the bright spots in practice so far.

JUNIOR Doug Sanderson is the choice at quarterback. He saw very little action last year.

Jack Squires, senior letterman, will start at one of the halfbacks.

Las Lomas

Louis had only four men back from last year's team that almost grabbed a share of the Foothill championship.

Two lettermen have been lost to the team for the year. Fullback Terry Conner had a throat operation on the day the practice sessions started and is probably out for the season.

Halfback Greg Bertagnoli injured his knee this summer and is definitely out for the year.

Louis will be counting on his other four veterans to hold the team together this year.

MIKE Breuleux will be starting at quarterback again this year. He was a regular last season.

Larry Gabie, a regular from midseason on last year, will get the call at fullback.

Dick McCoy, who was injured last season, but earned his letter, will probably start at one of the halfbacks.

In the line, the lone veteran is guard Len Haentjens.

In workouts so far, Louis has been busy trying to find the players to fill the gaps in the line.

Otto Schapz, a JV fullback last year, has been converted to guard and is looking good, according to Louis.

Arlis Loe and Jim Wirthman, up from the junior varsity, will probably handle the duties at center.

Larry Reardon, juniors Dave and Don Cotlow are battling for

Miramonte

Brooks has six lettermen returning from last year's team that had a 2-2-1 league record and was 3-4-1 over all.

Four of the six are linemen and how well they perform will go a long way in determining how good or bad Miramonte is this year.

Roger McCosker is the big man in the line. The senior tackle is the heaviest player on the team at 195.

Kent Miller, a junior who won his letter last year, will likely get the call at one of the guard positions.

Glen Tobias will probably hold forth at center. Letterman Greg DeWitt, who alternated at guard and tackle, will probably see plenty of action this fall.

BROOKS will have to count on a green backfield this year. The only returning back is halfback Dean Hilger.

Tom Gaffeney, Rod Robinson and Gary Rose are all out for the quarterback slot, but none of the three has varsity experience.

Steve Miller, a senior up from the junior varsity, has looked good at halfback in practice sessions so far. He'll likely see plenty of action.

Brooks lost one probable regular when JV captain Gary Holtwick, a senior, broke his leg.

San Ramon

After eight agonizing defeats last year, Houston is determined to get the Wolves growling again this year.

He believes tackle Jerry Stephens and guard-linebacker Les Ferguson will help him out.

Houston said he doesn't believe there are any better linemen in Northern California.

tackle spots, as is sophomore Bill Staley.

HE ALSO believes that his team will give any team a battle this year — something they weren't able to do last year.

Jim Gelderman, a senior, has been shifted from halfback to quarterback and has been doing a good job, according to Houston.

Fullback Bruce Townsend and halfback Mike Mivelaz, both regulars last year, will be the other two seniors in the starting lineup.

Top WC Softball Teams to Battle

First place in the Walnut Creek Adult Softball league will be at stake tomorrow night when the Post Office and Walnut Creek Youth Association Team No. 2 meet at 7:30 p.m. in City Park.

The two teams have identical 4-1 records in league play.

The winner of tomorrow night's game will clinch at least a share of the regular season title. The eight teams wind up the season next week.

The top four teams in regular season play will qualify for a round robin playoff on September 26 and 27.

The WCYAA team fon its fourth in a row last Wednesday night by dumping upset-minded San Miguel, 13-5.

The Post Office returned to its winning ways by downing WCYAA Team No. 1, 13-11, with a last inning rally that netted five runs.

Going into the sixth inning, the Post Office trailed 10-2. They scored six in the sixth and then added the winning runs in the seventh.

The losers played the final inning under protest. A ruling by the Walnut Creek Recreation Department is due later this week.

In games this week, the winless Kiwanis Club suffered it sixth straight loss. San Miguel, hoping for a spot in the post-season playoff, won handily, 22-3.

The Optimist Club, fresh from its first win of the season, turned in win number two, 14-12, over the City Employees.

The game next week between San Miguel and the City Employees will decide who will be the fourth and final team in the playoffs.

WCYAA NO. 2, Post Office and the Lions have already clinched playoff spots.

Gun Club to Hold Ham-Bacon Shoot

The Bay Point Rod and Gun Club will hold a Ha mand Bacon Shoot at the U.S.I. Range Sunday.

The range is located 400 yards west of the Willow Pass and Highway 4 intersection.

The shoot gets underway at 9 a.m.

There will be trap, running deer and stationary target competition.

Diablo Invitational Won By Morgan-Carter Again

Hal Morgan and Wayne Carter won the Diablo Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament last weekend for the second straight year.

Their combined net score was 125—the same score they shot in winning the tourney a year ago.

A 63 Sunday enabled them to break out of a first-day three-way tie with Donn Sigerson-Jack Potter and Jim Bos-Joel Grimshaw.

The teams fired 62s on Saturday.

Sigerson and Potter wound up in second place with a 126 score.

Bos and Grimshaw skied to a 68 and sixth place with a 130 score.

The 216 golfers entered in the annual tournament were handicapped by high winds Saturday that caused some scores to skyrocket.

Of the top three teams on Sunday, however, only Morgan and Carter were able to keep up the sub-par pace they set Saturday.

THE BEST round in the tourney was produced by Herb Ayers and Oak Adam.

The twosome fired a net 59 Sunday after a 69 Saturday.

Their two-day score of 128 was good for a fourth place tie.

A 20-foot putt on the 18th hole that Sigerson just missed was the difference between the two top teams.

Sigerson and Potter were kept in the running after Morgan three-putted the final hole.

Morgan and Carter fired five birdies on the final 18 holes to overcome bogey ninth and 18th holes.

A bogey on the 16th by the runner-ups hurt their chance for a win. Up until that time they had a good chance to finish up tied for top honors.

All ties in the first 10 places were decided by sudden death playoffs.

BUNCHED at 127 were Woody Woodman-Andy Thom (66-21) and Buzz Knowlton-Boots Erb (64-63).

Women Voters To Meet

The League of Women Voters of Concord-Diablo Valley will hold three meetings to be held next week concerning national issues which the league actively supports.

Mrs. L. L. Baldwin, chairman of National Continuing Responsibilities, said that long range planning for conservation and development of water resources is a very active issue currently demanding much league attention.

Effective legislation on water pollution is one of the league goals included in this issue.

SUPPORT of the United Nations is a well known league stand which requires continuing emphasis, said Mrs. Baldwin.

Effective U. S. support includes adequate appropriations by Congress for the financial support of the UN, and increased use of UN for international relations, she stressed.

Another target of league action is the federal loyalty-security program. The league is working for modification of the program to limit its scope, standardize procedures, and provide the greatest possible protection for the individual.

Other stands taken by the league include self-government for the District of Columbia; measures granting authority for Presidential veto of items in appropriation bills; opposition to Constitutional limitations on tax rates; and opposition to Constitutional changes which would limit existing powers of the Executive and Congress over foreign relations.

THE MEETINGS next week will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. F. Valle-Riestra, 140 Cora Court, Walnut Creek.

Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. William Ross, 161 Parkmead Court, Walnut Creek; and Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Snzmann, 105 Jackson Way, Alamo.

Mrs. C. W. Funk, league president, said these meetings will provide an opportunity for all women of central Contra Costa County to become acquainted with league goals and methods.

Persons wishing to attend should call Mrs. George Hearne, or Mrs. Sam Harris.

"Students in each of the schools were issued books and materials and were busy at the job of learning by the end of the first day of school," Neil M. Parsons, Acalanes district superintendent, said.

THANK YOU, ANGEL, was the sentiment and theme of the County Volunteer Bureau's swim party for teen-agers who helped out this summer. It was held at the Louis Pitto home, Walnut Creek. THOMAS — A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thomas of Pleasant Hill on August 31 at Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

GALLOWAY — A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Don Galloway of Walnut Creek on September 1 at Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Thank You, Angel!

A "Thank-you Angel" swim party was given to honor the almost 100 teen-agers, who generated a lot of teen-power, goodwill and community service during their summer vacation, at the home of Mrs. Louis Pitto at Alderwood Drive, Walnut Creek.

The teen-agers were not only helpful to tax and volunteer supported agencies in the county, but were able to explore their own interests and talents for future careers, according to teen-ager volunteer chairman Mrs. Alan Stern of Lafayette.

The teen-age program is part of the Volunteer Bureau of Contra Costa, a United Crusade agency.

Placements were made in recreation departments, county health departments, county hospital therapy department, cerebral palsy school, Camp Sierra for Mentally Retarded, Y.M.C.A. Day Camp, Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, "We Care" Retarded group.

Contra Costa Rehabilitation Council, United Crusade, American Red Cross, mental health association.

They not only were placed in Central Contra Costa but placements were also made in Oakley and Pittsburg, she said.

Mrs. Stern said, "We believe this year's teen-age program was well organized and very productive. Agencies in many instances requested placements with special interests or skills—such as future teachers or clerical.

"One volunteer, Mike Edwards, who plans to be an engineer, wanted hospital experience as a potential for working his way through college.

"He wound up at the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center learning many skills that he will use eventually.

"The recreation departments trained their volunteers with the probability of summer employment another year.

"All in all, we are very satisfied with the teen-agers' performance as responsible young citizens. We trust they gained a great deal of knowledge about the communities in which they live and insight of their abilities and interests," Mrs. Stern added.

Dirty Hands On Food--

Dr. H. L. Blum, county health officer, announced that Culinary Workers' Locals 595 and 822 had fully endorsed his department's new, long term food inspection program designed to protect the health of the citizens and visitors to Contra Costa County.

The recent improved health department inspection campaign indicated that many food service personnel have been careless in preparation and dispensing of food, he said.

"Contra Costa County residents are entitled to clean, wholesome food in sanitary surroundings, and the responsibility has been given to the health department to see that they get it," said Blum.

Local ordinances require that anyone working in food establishments handling food in a manner dangerous to public health must attend a health department course of instruction, discontinue food handling, or both, if so ordered by the health officer.

The new program will be one of combined enforcement and education.

Food personnel training courses will be available for establishments who wish to voluntarily take advantage of them, as well as for violators whose attendance will be required.

Exams Aid Re-Employment

Several hundred Contra Costans annually take special examinations administered by the office of county superintendent of schools in the hope of qualifying for jobs in industry and elsewhere.

Said County Superintendent Floyd Marchus, "This is one of the contributions made by the department toward re-employment of individuals who have lost their jobs because of automation or other technological changes or economic conditions."

Dr. Marchus is a member of the county committee on re-employment appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

As an agency of the Veterans' Testing Service of the American Council on Education, the county superintendent's office gave high school level examinations to 335 individuals in 1960.

A passing grade in this GED test — General Educational Development—is accepted by virtually all industry, business and governmental agencies as equivalent to a high school diploma, explained the superintendent.

"The typical GED examinee last year was 27 years of age and had had 10 years of schooling, insufficient to qualify him for a job in most of our industries and business," said Marchus.

While no records of the examinees' origin are maintained, the superintendent said the indications were that a majority of those taking the GED tests are from other states, where they dropped out of high school.

GED testing is not restricted to veterans, who, in fact, are now outnumbered by non-veterans.

There were more than five non-veterans to one veteran among those taking the GED examina- tions in 1960.

The county superintendent's office is one of 75 agencies in California and 658 in the United States which administer the tests.

GED was originated to assist veterans whose schooling had been interrupted by World War II but has since been extended to others.

Directory of Organizations Is Available

The Directory of Organizations of central Contra Costa county, 1961 edition, is now available, announced William Francis, manager of the Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce.

The directory, published jointly as a public service by the chamber of commerce and by the volunteer bureau, a United Crusade agency, includes civic interest associations, educational organizations, men's groups, hobby, sports, recreation, and women's clubs. Names of current presidents are listed as is the election month.

Copies are available at the chamber of commerce office, 1359 Locust street, Walnut Creek. Cost to those organizations listed is $1, to others $2.50.

A volunteer bureau committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin H. Clarke assembled the directory and brought it up to date.

The chamber underwrites the cost and handles distribution.

"The directory is invaluable to to anyone active in community affiairs," said chamber of commerce president George B. Webster.

Great Books Discussion Groups Begin

Discussion groups on great books are now planned for four locations in the area, according to Robert S. Love, Lafayette, area representative.

Love announced there are no prior educational requirements for these groups. Participants meet for two hours twice a month to talk about a book.

First year group will begin September 14 at 7 p.m. at the new Pleasant Hill Library, 1750 Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill.

Co-leading this group will be Robert Whitfield, Pleasant Hill, and Love.

INCLUDED among the first year readings are Declaration of Independence; Shakespeare's Macbeth; Communist Manifesto; Machiavelli's, The Prince.

Second year group will begin September 13 at 7 p.m. at the Concord Library, 2900 Salvio Street, Concord, under leadership of Sam Peters, Jr., Walnut Creek and Love.

Included in the second year readings are Shakespeare's Hamlet; Gulliver's Travels; Mark Twain's, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn.

Third year group will meet October 3 at 8 p.m. in the Co-Op, 1510 Geary Road, Walnut Creek, with Mr. and Mrs. N. C. W. Izett, Lafayette, as leaders.

Fifth year group will begin its meetings September 28 at 8 p.m. in the Hillcrest Congregational Church, 404 Gregory Lane, Pleasant Hill, with Arthur Hakel, Pleasant Hill, and Douglas Percival, Berkeley, as leaders.

The books discussed speak openly and directly about the basic problems of human life: What can I know What can I hope for? What is man? How ought I to act? Such questions have concerned men for centuries and they concern us today.

Anyone of the above groups are open to new members. Further information on above groups may be obtained by calling the leaders or Love, YE 4-7118, area representative.

Capwell's Offers Bridge Lessons

An opportunity to develop a new interest and to meet new people is being offered by Capwell's. Bridge classes will begin on Monday, 7 to 9 p.m., in the training rooms, located on the 2nd floor, Capwell's-Walnut Creek.

Considered by many to be the most popular card game in the East Bay area, bridge is easy and fun to learn. The 10 week series will be taught by Dean Cook, a life master who has won numerous local, regional and national championships. He has been teaching the Goren point system for more than 15 years.

The series is designed to teach the beginner who has no knowledge of the game, and also the "average player" who wants to perfect his or her playing skill. Admission is $1 per pupil per lesson collected at the beginning of each evening.

Future bridge players will want to save the dates, Monday, through November 13, to learn to play bridge this fall.

September Should Be Busy Month for Gardeners

In many another state of the union, September arrives on a note of change.

Garden activity begins to slack off and the end of the garden year is definitely at hand. Not so in California.

California's September marks a change of sorts, but not a slackening of the garden pace. On the contrary, our summer siesta ends and we prepare to go to work.

SOMETIME this month, the first indication of coming fall will fill the air, but don't be misled. The chances that fall's early days will bring any rain are almost nil.

We get occasional drizzles, but none, usually that permit the gardener to get off without watering. Guard against the tendency to anticipate rains and continue watering as you have done all summer.

On the planting scene, September ushers in a season of spring-like activity.

IT IS the best time for planting a new lawn; the time to plant perennials for spring and summer bloom; an excellent time to plant evergreens of all sorts; the month to plant annuals for winter color and bulbs such as ixias, freesias, sparaxis, ranunculus and anemones, which like to go in the ground early.

In planting for winter and spring, the California Association of Nurserymen cautions us not to overlook the immediate future.
